Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency 2013-14

Agency Overview:

The Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency (PCCD) serves as a catalyst for the prevention and reduction of crime and delinquency within the Commonwealth and assists victims of crime through support for direct services and by alleviating the financial burdens resulting from the commission of a crime. PCCD strives to effect improvements in the criminal and juvenile justice systems by examining problems, proposing solutions and monitoring and evaluating the impact of those solutions. PCCD assists the criminal and juvenile justice systems to function more productively by fostering interagency coordination and cooperation; developing and coordinating policy issues; providing statewide criminal statistical and analytical services; and granting federal and state funds to provide monies for new efforts or to supplement existing efforts in the areas of victim services and intermediate punishment.

The Commission fosters community-based initiatives in the areas of crime prevention and juvenile delinquency prevention, promotes fair treatment of victims and witnesses of crime, supports local efforts to improve the apprehension and prosecution of those that commit crimes, promotes the use of automated data technology to enhance operational effectiveness in local law enforcement agencies and encourages sound practices in monitoring and treatment of offenders in the community.

Advisory groups and planning committees encompassing Commission and non-Commission members provide insight in dealing with specific areas such as services to victims of crime, juvenile justice, public safety, targeted community revitalization and crime prevention, evaluation, senior citizens, offenders with mental health issues, and cross-system issues.

Services to victims of crime are an important responsibility of PCCD under the provisions of Act 1995-27S which transferred administration of the state's Crime Victims' Compensation Fund to the agency. PCCD also administers various federal and state funding support for victims', which supports grant programs for victim services through the Crime Victims Act.

PCCD implements the County Intermediate Punishment Act, 42 PA C.S. §9801 et. seq.; the victim/witness services provisions and victims of juvenile offenders provisions of the Crime Victims Act; the Deputy Sheriffs' Education and Training Program under state Act 1984-2 as amended; and the Constables' Education and Training Program under state Act 1994-44.

The significant program areas in which the PCCD operates are as follows:

Policy, Legislative, Program Analyses and Monitoring – PCCD is responsible for providing thorough, accurate and timely analyses of factors causing change in the criminal justice system, including legislation that may impact on the dynamics of the system. PCCD's Office of Research, Evaluation, and Strategic Policy Development (ORESPD) provides an objective, independent and comprehensive source of policy-relevant data.

Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention – PCCD develops policy recommendations and administers federal and state funds to support programs designed to improve the Commonwealth's juvenile justice system, and to prevent violence (committed by and against children and youth), delinquency, substance abuse, school dropout, and related problem behaviors among children and youth.

Safe Schools Advocate – Pursuant to State Act 2000-91, the advocate provides support services, victim advocacy and monitoring of the school district of first class cities (Philadelphia). The advocate is responsible for monitoring data submitted by the School District of Philadelphia to the Department of Education to assure compliance with the Safe Schools Act as well as the Memorandum of Understanding with the Philadelphia Police Department.

Victim Services – PCCD works to help crime victims transcend their trauma by providing funding to victim service agencies that work directly with victims, provide financial help to victims through the Victims Compensation Assistance Program (VCAP), and collaborate with criminal justice and allied professionals that advocate and respond to the needs of victims.

Criminal Justice System Improvements – PCCD advances the criminal justice system by coordinating with all levels of criminal justice agencies in identifying their issues, developing policies and programs and implementing innovative justice improvement solutions that enhance public safety.

Goals and Key Objectives:

The mission of PCCD is to enhance the quality and coordination of the criminal and juvenile justice systems, facilitate the delivery of services to victims of crime, and increase the safety of communities. Ultimately, PCCD strives to serve as a criminal and juvenile justice center of excellence.

Authorized by Act 274 of 1978, PCCD exists to bring diverse and talented stakeholders together to coordinate state and local justice policies and programs, help communities improve the administration of justice, and oversee the allocation of federal and state grant monies.

PCCD strives to make improvements in the criminal and juvenile justice systems by examining problems, proposing solutions and monitoring and evaluating the impact of those solutions. PCCD fosters interagency coordination and cooperation by:

- Developing and coordinating policy issues;
- Providing statewide criminal statistical and analytical services; and
- Granting federal and state funds to provide seed monies for new or existing efforts.

Listed below are the key agency objectives and priorities that were areas of focus during the fiscal year 2013-14. This is not an exhaustive list of PCCD's objectives for this period but a subset that received priority consideration.

Key Agency Objectives:

1. Key Agency Objective: Increase the efficiency and efficacy of local planning efforts through interagency planning and collaboration.

Priority: To provide funding and technical assistance to county criminal justice advisory boards (CJAB's) in developing and maintaining strategic plans, community reentry plans and the priorities identified through the strategic planning process.

Status: PCCD continued to provide support to the CJAB's strategic planning processes during fiscal year 13-14. Five additional strategic planning processes were facilitated with operational CJAB's bringing the total number of CJAB's that have a formal strategic plan to 55.

2. Key Agency Objective: Reduce the number of justice involved individuals with mental illness.

Priority: Increase the number of individuals completing Crisis Intervention Training.

Status: Crisis Intervention Training is designed to improve the manner in which law enforcement and the community respond to individuals who are experiencing a mental health crisis. During the year, 81 individuals participated in the training which is nearly three times what was expected.

3. Key Agency Objective: Increase the use of innovative programs, promising approaches, and evidence-based programs and practices in order to reduce crime and victimization.

Priority 1: Provide funding and support for counties to plan and implement the juvenile justice system enhancement strategy.

Status: PCCD provided funding for six additional counties to be trained in Aggression Replacement Training, an evidenced-based program that has been shown to effectively reduce the likelihood of further penetration into the juvenile justice and criminal justice systems for those who participate in the program. As research has shown that a significant number of probationers have experienced trauma, funds were also used to pilot test the implementation of a Trauma Informed Cognitive Behavioral Therapy initiative. Additionally, the Standardized Program Evaluation Protocol (SPEP) was piloted in five counties. SPEP is an evidence-based tool that evaluates the likelihood of juvenile justice programs to reduce recidivism. To date, over 60 service providers have participated in this evaluation process.

Priority 2: Provide funding and support to implement evidence-based delinquency and violence prevention programs, including training, technical assistance and outcome data collection.

Status: PCCD provided funding for 74 evidence-based programs and Communities that Care (CTC) coalitions during FY 2013/2014. This funding made services available for nearly 40,000 children and adults. Pennsylvania's Resource Center for Evidence-based Prevention and Intervention Programs and Practices facilitated nearly 100 trainings, networking meetings and presentations; responded to over 1,600 technical assistance questions and facilitated over 62 Professional Development activities for providers of evidence-based programming. Outcomes noted for those who participated in these programs include improved parenting skills and improved peer pressure skills, academic performance and decreased antisocial behaviors for youth.

4. Key Agency Objective: Improve the quality of service available to victims of crime.

Priority 1: Continue to employ methods to reduce the administrative reporting burden in victim service agencies by deploying an automated reporting, outcome and case management system.

Status: A web based automation system called Efforts to Outcome (ETO) was implemented in 2012 for victim service programs that provides a standardized data collection and reporting system and a robust case management component. One hundred percent of funded victim service providers use the application with over 50% opting to utilize the case management features.

Priority 2: Continue to identify opportunities to improve the efficiency of the Victim's Compensation Assistance Program.

Status: By leveraging new technologies, PCCD has improved the system of processing victim compensation claims.

5. Key Agency Objective: Increase the availability and improve the quality of alternatives to incarceration and all placements for adult and juvenile offenders.

Priority 1: Provide funding and support to assist County Intermediate Punishment (CIP) and related drug and alcohol treatment based programming.

Status: Recent research undertaken by PCCD related to the Drug and Alcohol component of this program found that 80% of participants completed successfully, and only 14% recidivated one year following their completion of the program. Additionally, by diverting these substance dependent offenders away from prison-time and treating their addictions, the Commonwealth has avoided annual correctional costs of over $35 million. As Pennsylvania moves forward with its Justice Reinvestment (JRI) strategy, we anticipate that D&A RIP and its successes will hold significant statewide policy and budgeting implications.

Priority 2: Provide funding and support to assist in the successful implementation of problem solving courts and other diversionary programs. Non-treatment intermediate punishment programs for non-violent offenders were supported in 43 counties and diverted 11,494 offenders from serving a total of 816,031 days of incarceration. Assistance with providing electronic monitoring, halfway houses, work release centers and probation staff salaries was provided. In addition, 40 counties received support for diversionary services for drug and alcohol dependent offenders via problem solving courts, in-patient and out-patient treatment services, halfway houses, day reporting centers and intensive probation services serving 3,840 offenders averting 174,507 incarceration days. Preliminary findings are that only 14% of those completing treatment services are re-arrested after one year, and only 20% after 24 months.

Funding Programs:

Administration of federal and state funding programs continue to be a significant responsibility of the agency. In 2013-14, PCCD awarded 538 grants totaling approximately $60,000,000. Listed below are the various funding streams that are administered by PCCD to include the revenue or award history of each, the intended purpose of the funds and the number of grants awarded in 2013.

Federal Funds:

Edward Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant (JAG) Program/Drug Control and System Improvement (DCSI) – The Edward Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant Program (JAG)/Drug Control and System Improvement (DCSI) Program provides seed money to assist non-profit agencies and state and local government entities in implementing a wide range of drug enforcement, correctional treatment/supervision, victim services, juvenile justice, and criminal justice system improvement projects; providing technical assistance to state, county and local units of government; and coordinating regional and statewide training events. PCCD uses subject matter-based advisory committees to identify problems within the adult and juvenile justice system. PCCD's advisory committees are comprised of individuals with a range of state, local, and private sector expertise. PCCD engages its advisory committees in deliberative planning processes to determine how to best utilize JAG funds to improve and build on existing criminal, juvenile, and victim programs.

Statewide Automated Victim Information and Notification (SAVIN) – PCCD was awarded Federal assistance from the U.S. Department of Justice to manage the implementation of a Statewide Automated Victim Information and Notification (SAVIN) program for the Commonwealth's local correctional facilities. Pennsylvania's Crime Victims Act ensures the victim's right to be informed of, among other things, the release or escape from custody of an offender and the release of an offender to a work release program or any other type of post arrest release. Such information is vital not only to victims, but to members of the law enforcement community as well as the community-at-large. SAVIN has the potential to provide valuable information including, but not limited to: notifications of arrests, releases, transfers, and escapes. An automated system such as SAVIN also links agencies, reduces redundant efforts among agencies, and offers a wide degree of local program control. SAVIN offers the Commonwealth an approach that saves time, human resources, and money for the criminal justice and victims services systems while providing a significant compliance tool for ensuring victims' rights.

Victims of Crime Act funding is distributed primarily to community-based victim services agencies, although several system-based programs also may receive funding. Victims of Crime Act funding is distributed to all 67 counties in the Commonwealth. In FY 2012-13, PCCD allocated $14.6 million to county programs. While federal legislation has been introduced to raise the cap on the federal Crime Victims Fund to $705 million, it is unknown how much would be received at the state level. On average these funds make services available to 120,000 victims per year.

STOP funding is distributed on a competitive basis to counties or community-based victim services agencies with the money being used to implement program plans that incorporate a law enforcement, prosecutorial and victim services component to address violence against women at the local level. By federal requirement, 25% of funds must be used for prosecution; 25% for law enforcement; 30% for victim services; 5% for judiciary; and 15% discretionary. Of the 30% allocated to victim services, 10% must be used for linguistically and culturally specific services.

During 2013, federal STOP Violence Against Women funding was used to serve 16,360 victims and significant others of sexual assault, domestic violence, stalking and dating violence across Pennsylvania.

State Appropriations:

Violence Prevention Programs – The overall purpose of this state appropriation is to support the proliferation of high quality and effective juvenile justice and delinquency prevention programs that are cost-effective and produce positive outcomes for youth, families and communities. These funds also supported community mobilization efforts through the Communities That Care (CTC) risk-focused prevention planning process, the Resource Center for Evidence-Based Prevention and Intervention Program and Practices and other priorities as identified by the PCCD's Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Committee. Funding is provided to private non-profit community-based agencies/organizations and units of local government. These programs, on average, yield a $5 dollar return for every dollar invested. Examples of the types of outcomes achieved through the utilization of these types of programs include improved academic performance, improved school attendance, decreased anti-social behaviors, improved social skills and improved family relations. In 2013, nearly 215,000 children took the Pennsylvania Youth Survey, which helped local communities plan prevention initiatives and 19,520 children were provided risk-focused prevention services as a result of this funding.

Intermediate Punishment Program (Combination of IP D&A RIP and IP in 2011) – The County Intermediate Punishment Act, 42 Pa. C.S. §9801 et. seq., provides for various intermediate punishment program options for non-violent offenders. Eligible offenders are placed in intermediate punishment programs in lieu of incarceration. Counties must submit intermediate punishment plans to PCCD in order to receive funding and they must agree to comply with minimum program standards. The number of jail days saved through the utilization of intermediate punishment programs projects was a significant cost-saving measure for the Commonwealth. Ongoing research on the Drug and Alcohol Restrictive Intermediate Punishment participants has demonstrated a significant reduction in recidivism and that only 12.4% of participants recidivate within the first year of successfully completing the program.

The goal of these programs are to reduce confinement costs by providing alternatives to incarceration and secure placement for low-risk offenders and by enhancing opportunities for offenders to successfully reintegrate into society.

During 2013-14 the average numbers of jail days saved by having an individual participate in an Intermediate Punishment program was 71.

In 2013-14 the average number of jail days saved for each participant in a Drug and Alcohol Intermediate Punishment Program was 157.

Under the provisions of the Crime Victims Act, PCCD provides grants and technical assistance to District Attorney's offices, Juvenile Probation offices, and community-based victim service programs to carry out mandated victim's rights to victims of juvenile offenders as established by the Crime Victims Act. Sixty-five of the Commonwealth's 67 counties participate in this program. In 2012, funds from the Victims of Juvenile Offenders Program supported the provision of services to 21,060 victims, witnesses and significant others of crime victims. In 2013, funds from the Victims of Juvenile Offenders Program supported the provision of services to 38,249 victims, witnesses and significant others of crime victims.

Safe School Advocate – This appropriation provides funding to support school districts in cities of the first class (i.e., Philadelphia School District). The Safe School Advocate is tasked with assuring the accuracy of school district reporting crime data, advocating for those that have been victimized by crime while at school, working with the school district to implement strategies, and eliminating barriers that would improve the overall safety of those in the school. OSSA submitted an annual report that discussed observations and made recommendations on school safety. OSSA attends disciplinary, delinquency and expulsion hearings to advocate for victims and/or to observe testimony regarding incidents of violence that take place on school grounds.
